WMC Volunteer Auxiliary awards three nursing scholarships

FRANKLIN, TENN. – Williamson Medical Center’s Volunteer Auxiliary has awarded three Angeline “Angie” Gault Tillman Nursing scholarships to Williamson County students. The scholarships are named in memory of a longtime volunteer at Williamson Medical Center who donated nearly 15,000 hours of service.

Carra Linde, a graduate of Ravenwood High School and a Brentwood resident, plans to attend Tennessee Tech University. While a student at Ravenwood, she participated in Health Occupation Students of America and was a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta Math Honorary Society and the Ravenwood swim team. She served as a junior volunteer at Baptist Hospital in Nashville and at Williamson Medical Center.

Erin Pettepher, a resident of Nolensville, is also a graduate of Ravenwood High School, and she plans to attend Belmont University. Pettepher was an officer in Health Occupation Students of America, was a member of the National Spanish Honor Society and received the Good Citizen Award at Ravenwood High School.

Kendall Tarpley of Brentwood plans to attend The University of Tennessee. A graduate of Brentwood High School, she was a member of several honor societies, the Brentwood Girl’s Lacrosse Club and the Interact Club. In addition, Tarpley has volunteered with International World Changers, Katrina Relief Partnership, Nashville Rescue Mission and March of Dimes.

Scholarships are awarded to graduating seniors who are residents of Williamson County or are dependents of Williamson Medical Center employees. Recipients are required to have a 3.0 grade point average or higher.

Williamson Medical Center, a 185-bed hospital fully accredited by The Joint Commission, provides comprehensive inpatient and outpatient care including emergency services, with credentialed physicians in 53 specialties and sub-specialties. The community-focused hospital
