Medical Center offers understanding addiction seminar

FRANKLIN, TENN. – Williamson Medical Center is offering a free community seminar to help area residents understand addiction. Featured speaker Chapman Sledge, M.D., is the medical director at Cumberland Heights, a nationally recognized alcohol and drug treatment center.

The presentation, Understanding and Coping with Addiction, will be 3 p.m. Sunday, March 21, in Meeting Rooms A, B and C at Williamson Medical Center. Before his work at Cumberland Heights, Sledge served 15 years as medical director of addiction treatment services at Pine Grove Behavioral Health in Hattiesburg, Miss. He is a Fellow of the American Society of Addiction Medicine.

WMC Employee Assistance Program counselors will be available to provide self-assessment forms and resources for help. Call 615.791.CARE to register or obtain more information.

Williamson Medical Center, a 185-bed hospital fully accredited by The Joint Commission, provides comprehensive inpatient and outpatient care including emergency services, with credentialed physicians in 53 specialties and sub-specialties. The community-focused hospital offers a wide range of wellness services, screenings and classes. For more information about Williamson Medical Center, visit www.williamsonmedicalcenter.org.
